English 🔹 Present (am / is / are) I am happy.
I am in Pune.
I am ready.
I am confident.
I am at home.
He is smart.
He is tall.
He is my friend.
He is at the desk.
She is kind.
She is a quick learner.
She is beautiful.
She is in the office.
It is simple.
It is clear.
It is easy.
It is a small room.
They are happy.
They are at the corner.
They are my teammates.
They are strong.
We are in Nanded.
We are friends.
We are ready.
We are at the station.

- 🔹 Past (was / were) I was tired yesterday.

I was in the meeting.
I was late.
I was nervous.
I was at school.
He was my teacher.
He was busy.
He was at the shop.
He was serious.
She was confident.
She was happy.
She was at the park.
She was my classmate.
It was a small story.
It was clear.
It was easy.
It was a big hall.
We were in the demo.
We were together.
We were at the party.
We were ready.
They were at the office.
They were my neighbors.
They were busy.
They were late.

- 🔹 Future (will be) I will be ready tomorrow.

I will be happy.
I will be in the demo.
I will be confident.
I will be at the station.
He will be the presenter.
He will be strong.

He will be at the desk.
He will be happy.
She will be kind.
She will be at the meeting.
She will be confident.
She will be ready.
It will be simple.
It will be clear.
It will be easy.
It will be a big release.
We will be together.
We will be at the training.
We will be happy.
We will be in the demo.
They will be at the corner.
They will be strong.
They will be ready.
They will be at the office.

- Extra Variety (names + adjectives/adverbs) Deepak is smart.

Deepak is in Pune.
Deepak was confident.
Deepak will be ready.
Ramesh is tall.
Ramesh was late.
Ramesh will be happy.
Priya is kind.
Priya was nervous.
Priya will be confident.
The team is strong.
The team was busy.
The team will be ready.
The room is small.
The room was dark.
The room will be clean.
The city is big.
The city was crowded.
The city will be quiet.
The book is interesting.
The book was boring.
The book will be useful.
The day is bright.
The day was long.
The day will be good.
The corner is empty.
The corner was noisy.
The corner will be full.
The hall is large.
The hall was decorated.
The hall will be open.
The street is busy.
The street was quiet.
The street will be clean.
The office is modern.
The office was crowded.
The office will be empty.
The park is green.
The park was silent.
The park will be lively.

🔹 Context Sentences Present (is / am / are) It is a bug.
This is a new feature.
I am ready for deployment.
We are in the meeting.
Past (was / were) It was a story.
This was a requirement.
I was fixing the issue.
They were reviewing the code.
Future (will be) It will be a task.
This will be a demo.
I will be presenting tomorrow.
We will be testing next week.

🔹 Quick Drill Say these aloud in sequence: It is a bug.
It was a story.
It will be a task.

👉 This trains your tongue to switch between present → past → future naturally.

🔹 Present (have / has) I have a bug to fix.
We have a meeting today.
They have a new requirement.
He has a pull request.
She has a demo to present.
The project has a deadline.

🔹 Past (had) I had a task yesterday.
We had a sprint last week.
They had a deployment issue.
He had a code review.
She had a presentation.
The team had a discussion.

🔹 Future (will have) I will have a meeting tomorrow.
We will have a release next week.
They will have a demo soon.
He will have a new task.
She will have a training session.
The project will have a deadline.

🔹 Quick Drill Say these aloud in sequence: I have a bug to fix.
I had a task yesterday.
I will have a meeting tomorrow.

👉 This way you practice have → had → will have naturally.

🔹 Present (have / has) I have a pen.
I have a notebook.
I have a laptop.
I have a phone.
I have a bag.
I have a ticket.
I have a key.
I have a chair.
I have a book.
I have a friend.
We have a home.
We have a car.
We have a plan.
We have a room.
We have a project.
We have a table.
We have a garden.
We have a meeting.

They have a bike.
They have a house.
They have a shop.
They have a child.
They have a team.
He has a watch.
He has a phone.
He has a car.
He has a bag.
He has a brother.
She has a dress.
She has a book.
She has a laptop.
She has a sister.
She has a plan.
The city has a park.
The school has a library.
The office has a hall.
The room has a window.
The team has a leader.

- Past (had) I had a pen yesterday.

I had a notebook last week.
I had a laptop before.
I had a phone earlier.
I had a ticket yesterday.
I had a key in my pocket.
I had a chair at home.
I had a book last night.
I had a friend in school.
We had a home in Nanded.
We had a car last year.
We had a plan yesterday.
We had a room in the hotel.
We had a project last month.
We had a table in the hall.
We had a garden before.
They had a bike last week.
They had a house in Pune.
They had a shop in the market.
They had a child with them.
He had a watch yesterday.
He had a phone before.
He had a car last year.
He had a bag yesterday.
She had a dress last night.
She had a book yesterday.
She had a laptop before.
She had a sister with her.
She had a plan yesterday.
The city had a fair.
The school had a function.
The office had a meeting.
The room had a big window.
The team had a leader.

- Future (will have) I will have a pen tomorrow.

I will have a notebook soon.
I will have a laptop next month.

I will have a phone tomorrow.
I will have a bag soon.
I will have a ticket tomorrow.
I will have a key later.
I will have a chair at home.
I will have a book tomorrow.
I will have a friend soon.
We will have a home next year.
We will have a car soon.
We will have a plan tomorrow.
We will have a room in the hotel.
We will have a project next week.
We will have a table in the hall.
We will have a garden soon.
They will have a bike tomorrow.
They will have a house next year.
They will have a shop soon.
They will have a child later.
He will have a watch tomorrow.
He will have a phone soon.
He will have a car next year.
He will have a bag tomorrow.
She will have a dress tomorrow.
She will have a book soon.
She will have a laptop next month.
She will have a sister with her.
She will have a plan tomorrow.
The city will have a festival.
The school will have a function.
The office will have a meeting.
The room will have a new window.
The team will have a leader.
Simple Present (habit, fact, routine) I play cricket.
I read books.
I write code.
I drink tea.
I walk to the office.
He plays football.
He reads a story.
He writes notes.
He drinks coffee.
He walks fast.
She sings well.
She speaks English.
She cooks food.
She runs quickly.
She learns fast.
We go to school.
We play together.
We read daily.
We write homework.
We speak clearly.
They watch TV.
They play games.
They read newspapers.
They write letters.
They walk slowly.

- Simple Past (completed action) I played cricket yesterday.

I read a book last night.
I wrote code yesterday.
I drank tea in the morning.
I walked to the office yesterday.
He played football last week.
He read a story yesterday.
He wrote notes last night.
He drank coffee yesterday.
He walked fast yesterday.
She sang well yesterday.
She spoke English yesterday.
She cooked food last night.
She ran quickly yesterday.
She learned fast yesterday.
We went to school yesterday.
We played together yesterday.
We read daily last week.
We wrote homework yesterday.
We spoke clearly yesterday.
They watched TV yesterday.
They played games yesterday.
They read newspapers yesterday.
They wrote letters yesterday.
They walked slowly yesterday.

- Simple Future (planned action) I will play cricket tomorrow.

I will read a book tonight.
I will write code tomorrow.
I will drink tea later.
I will walk to the office tomorrow.
He will play football tomorrow.
He will read a story tonight.
He will write notes tomorrow.
He will drink coffee later.
He will walk fast tomorrow.
She will sing well tomorrow.
She will speak English tomorrow.
She will cook food tonight.
She will run quickly tomorrow.
She will learn fast tomorrow.
We will go to school tomorrow.
We will play together tomorrow.
We will read daily tomorrow.
We will write homework tomorrow.
We will speak clearly tomorrow.
They will watch TV tomorrow.
They will play games tomorrow.
They will read newspapers tomorrow.
They will write letters tomorrow.
They will walk slowly tomorrow.

- Extra Variety (names + objects) Deepak plays cricket.

Deepak read a book yesterday.
Deepak will write code tomorrow.
Ramesh drinks coffee.
Ramesh drank tea yesterday.
Ramesh will walk to school tomorrow.
Priya sings well.
Priya sang yesterday.

Priya will speak English tomorrow.
The team plays together.
The team played yesterday.
The team will play tomorrow.
The room looks clean.
The room was dirty yesterday.
The room will be neat tomorrow.
The city is big.
The city was crowded yesterday.
The city will be quiet tomorrow.
The book is interesting.
The book was boring yesterday.
The book will be useful tomorrow.
The day is bright.
The day was long yesterday.
The day will be good tomorrow.
The hall is large.
The hall was decorated yesterday.
The hall will be open tomorrow.
The street is busy.
The street was quiet yesterday.
The street will be clean tomorrow.

- Present Continuous (am / is / are + verb-ing) I am reading a book.

I am writing code.
I am learning English.
I am fixing a bug.
I am drinking tea.
He is playing cricket.
He is reading a story.
He is writing notes.
He is speaking English.
He is watching TV.
She is cooking food.
She is singing a song.
She is learning quickly.
She is running fast.
She is talking to friends.
We are studying together.
We are playing football.
We are reading newspapers.
We are writing homework.
We are speaking clearly.
They are watching a movie.
They are playing games.
They are reading books.
They are writing letters.
They are walking slowly.

- Past Continuous (was / were + verb-ing) I was reading a book yesterday.

I was writing code last night.
I was learning English yesterday.
I was fixing a bug yesterday.
I was drinking tea in the morning.
He was playing cricket yesterday.
He was reading a story yesterday.
He was writing notes last night.
He was speaking English yesterday.
He was watching TV yesterday.

She was cooking food last night.
She was singing yesterday.
She was learning quickly yesterday.
She was running fast yesterday.
She was talking to friends yesterday.
We were studying together yesterday.
We were playing football yesterday.
We were reading newspapers yesterday.
We were writing homework yesterday.
We were speaking clearly yesterday.
They were watching a movie yesterday.
They were playing games yesterday.
They were reading books yesterday.
They were writing letters yesterday.
They were walking slowly yesterday.

- Future Continuous (will be + verb-ing) I will be reading a book tomorrow.

I will be writing code tomorrow.
I will be learning English tomorrow.
I will be fixing a bug tomorrow.
I will be drinking tea later.
He will be playing cricket tomorrow.
He will be reading a story tonight.
He will be writing notes tomorrow.
He will be speaking English tomorrow.
He will be watching TV tomorrow.
She will be cooking food tonight.
She will be singing tomorrow.
She will be learning quickly tomorrow.
She will be running fast tomorrow.
She will be talking to friends tomorrow.
We will be studying together tomorrow.
We will be playing football tomorrow.
We will be reading newspapers tomorrow.
We will be writing homework tomorrow.
We will be speaking clearly tomorrow.
They will be watching a movie tomorrow.
They will be playing games tomorrow.
They will be reading books tomorrow.
They will be writing letters tomorrow.
They will be walking slowly tomorrow.

- Extra Variety (names + developer context) Deepak is learning Angular.

Deepak was learning English yesterday.
Deepak will be learning AI tomorrow.
Ramesh is fixing a bug.
Ramesh was fixing a bug yesterday.
Ramesh will be fixing a bug tomorrow.
Priya is writing notes.
Priya was writing notes yesterday.
Priya will be writing notes tomorrow.
The team is working on a project.
The team was working yesterday.
The team will be working tomorrow.
The server is running now.
The server was running yesterday.
The server will be running tomorrow.
The students are studying.
The students were studying yesterday.

The students will be studying tomorrow.
The teacher is teaching.
The teacher was teaching yesterday.
The teacher will be teaching tomorrow.
The project is growing.
The project was growing last month.
The project will be growing next month.
The city is changing.
The city was changing last year.
The city will be changing next year.
The book is helping me.
The book was helping me yesterday.
The book will be helping me tomorrow.
Present Perfect (have / has + past participle) I have finished my homework.
I have written code.
I have read the book.
I have learned English.
I have fixed the bug.
He has played cricket.
He has read the story.
He has written notes.
He has spoken clearly.
He has watched TV.
She has cooked food.
She has sung a song.
She has learned quickly.
She has run fast.
She has talked to friends.
We have studied together.
We have played football.
We have read newspapers.
We have written homework.
We have spoken English.
They have watched a movie.
They have played games.
They have read books.
They have written letters.
They have walked slowly.

- Past Perfect (had + past participle) I had finished my homework before dinner.

I had written code before the meeting.
I had read the book before class.
I had learned English before the exam.
I had fixed the bug before deployment.
He had played cricket before school.
He had read the story before bedtime.
He had written notes before the test.
He had spoken clearly before the demo.
He had watched TV before sleeping.
She had cooked food before guests arrived.
She had sung a song before the program.
She had learned quickly before the exam.
She had run fast before the race ended.
She had talked to friends before leaving.
We had studied together before the test.
We had played football before lunch.
We had read newspapers before class.
We had written homework before school.
We had spoken English before the meeting.

They had watched a movie before dinner.
They had played games before class.
They had read books before the exam.
They had written letters before posting.
They had walked slowly before reaching home.

- Future Perfect (will have + past participle) I will have finished my homework by tomorrow.

I will have written code by evening.
I will have read the book by night.
I will have learned English by next week.
I will have fixed the bug by morning.
He will have played cricket by noon.
He will have read the story by bedtime.
He will have written notes by tomorrow.
He will have spoken clearly by the demo.
He will have watched TV by night.
She will have cooked food by evening.
She will have sung a song by the program.
She will have learned quickly by the exam.
She will have run fast by the race.
She will have talked to friends by tomorrow.
We will have studied together by the test.
We will have played football by lunch.
We will have read newspapers by class.
We will have written homework by school.
We will have spoken English by the meeting.
They will have watched a movie by dinner.
They will have played games by class.
They will have read books by the exam.
They will have written letters by posting.
They will have walked slowly by reaching home.

- Extra Variety (names + developer context) Deepak has completed the project.

Deepak had completed the project before the deadline.
Deepak will have completed the project by tomorrow.
Ramesh has fixed the bug.
Ramesh had fixed the bug before deployment.
Ramesh will have fixed the bug by morning.
Priya has written notes.
Priya had written notes before the exam.
Priya will have written notes by tomorrow.
The team has finished the sprint.
The team had finished the sprint before release.
The team will have finished the sprint by Friday.
The server has started.
The server had started before the test.
The server will have started by evening.
The students have studied well.
The students had studied before the exam.
The students will have studied by tomorrow.
The teacher has explained the topic.
The teacher had explained the topic before the test.
The teacher will have explained the topic by class.
The project has grown.
The project had grown before launch.
The project will have grown by next month.
The city has changed.
The city had changed before the festival.
The city will have changed by next year.

The book has helped me.
The book had helped me before the exam.
The book will have helped me by tomorrow.
Present Perfect Continuous (have/has been + verb-ing) I have been reading a book.
I have been writing code.
I have been learning English.
I have been fixing bugs.
I have been drinking tea.
He has been playing cricket.
He has been reading stories.
He has been writing notes.
He has been speaking English.
He has been watching TV.
She has been cooking food.
She has been singing songs.
She has been learning quickly.
She has been running fast.
She has been talking to friends.
We have been studying together.
We have been playing football.
We have been reading newspapers.
We have been writing homework.
We have been speaking clearly.
They have been watching movies.
They have been playing games.
They have been reading books.
They have been writing letters.
They have been walking slowly.

- Past Perfect Continuous (had been + verb-ing) I had been reading a book before class.

I had been writing code before the meeting.
I had been learning English before the exam.
I had been fixing bugs before deployment.
I had been drinking tea before lunch.
He had been playing cricket before school.
He had been reading stories before bedtime.
He had been writing notes before the test.
He had been speaking English before the demo.
He had been watching TV before sleeping.
She had been cooking food before guests arrived.
She had been singing before the program started.
She had been learning quickly before the exam.
She had been running fast before the race ended.
She had been talking to friends before leaving.
We had been studying together before the test.
We had been playing football before lunch.
We had been reading newspapers before class.
We had been writing homework before school.
We had been speaking English before the meeting.
They had been watching movies before dinner.
They had been playing games before class.
They had been reading books before the exam.
They had been writing letters before posting.
They had been walking slowly before reaching home.

- Future Perfect Continuous (will have been + verb-ing) I will have been reading a book for two hours by night.

I will have been writing code for three hours by evening.
I will have been learning English for a month by next week.

I will have been fixing bugs for two days by tomorrow.
I will have been drinking tea for an hour by noon.
He will have been playing cricket for two hours by lunch.
He will have been reading stories for an hour by bedtime.
He will have been writing notes for a week by tomorrow.
He will have been speaking English for a year by next month.
He will have been watching TV for two hours by night.
She will have been cooking food for an hour by evening.
She will have been singing for two hours by the program.
She will have been learning quickly for months by the exam.
She will have been running fast for minutes by the race.
She will have been talking to friends for hours by tomorrow.
We will have been studying together for a week by the test.
We will have been playing football for two hours by lunch.
We will have been reading newspapers for days by class.
We will have been writing homework for an hour by school.
We will have been speaking English for months by the meeting.
They will have been watching movies for hours by dinner.
They will have been playing games for days by class.
They will have been reading books for weeks by the exam.
They will have been writing letters for hours by posting.
They will have been walking slowly for minutes by reaching home.

- Extra Variety (names + developer context) Deepak has been learning Angular.

Deepak had been learning English before the exam.
Deepak will have been learning AI for six months by December.
Ramesh has been fixing bugs.
Ramesh had been fixing bugs before deployment.
Ramesh will have been fixing bugs for two days by tomorrow.
Priya has been writing notes.
Priya had been writing notes before the test.
Priya will have been writing notes for a week by next class.
The team has been working on a project.
The team had been working before the release.
The team will have been working for a month by Friday.
The server has been running smoothly.
The server had been running before the crash.
The server will have been running for hours by evening.
The students have been studying hard.
The students had been studying before the exam.
The students will have been studying for weeks by the test.
The teacher has been explaining topics.
The teacher had been explaining before the bell rang.
The teacher will have been explaining for an hour by class end.
The project has been growing steadily.
The project had been growing before launch.
The project will have been growing for months by next release.
The city has been changing fast.
The city had been changing before the festival.
The city will have been changing for years by next decade.
The book has been helping me.
The book had been helping me before the exam.
The book will have been helping me for days by tomorrow.